DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to communication filed on 4/27/2006.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 72-85 are allowed.

The present invention comprises a computerized system and method for guaranteeing a best price to a consumer following a purchase of an item. If a later price is better (lower) than the first price, a refund is provided by crediting the account of the consumer.

The closest prior arts are: Bloomberg (5,642,279) which teaches monitoring the prices of items bought by the consumers and if a lower price is found, refunding the difference to the consumer.

Walker (6,249,772) teaches crediting an account of a consumer.

Article titled "Luskin's - Marketing Procedures" which teaches offering a price protection pledge on every purchase. If within 30 days of a sale, the same model is sold at any local retailer, the purchaser can ask for and receive a refund. If the company reduces the price of an item, the customer can ask for and receive a refund.

Phillips et al. (GB 2,377,314) teaches issuing a rebate on a purchase card.

The references fail to teach the specific limitations of independent claims 72 and 85 which recite, "a host system records the first price and information identifying the customer; the host system conducts the monitoring, noting, and calculating steps; and the host system provides the refund to the consumer only if prices for

The references fail to teach the specific limitations of independent claim 79 which recites, “ means for duplicating for the consumer any incentive accompanying sales of the item after the consummated final transaction during the predetermined time period”

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
